results are shown below. Now a job structure is needed. is time to try it out. As a first step, Whole Foods has done job analysis and prepared job descriptions. The Rather than wait until you are next in a supermarket to check out the different types of work, we brought some of the jobs at Whole Foods Market to you. Now that you have some background in job evaluation, it

The manager has assigned this job to you.

- 1. Divide into teams of four to six each. Each team should evaluate the jobs and prepare a job structure based Recall from our discussion of Whole Foods' business and pay strategy that teams play an important role. on its evaluation. Assign titles to each job, and show your structure by title and job letter. A broad hint:
- 2. Your team should describe the process it went through to arrive at that job structure. The job evaluation techniques and compensable factors used should be described, and the reasons for selecting them
- Each team should give each job a title and put its job structure on the board. Comparisons can then be made among job structures of the various teams. Does the job evaluation method used appear to affect the results? Do the compensable factors chosen affect the results? Does the process affect the results? should be stated
- 4. Evaluate the job descriptions. What parts of them were most useful? How could they be improved?
